Commissioners let in the first flow of water from the Passaic Water Works, and since that time the applications for water from the inhabitants have been numerous. The pipes are being tapped daily, and the rates, though not at present fixed, will be about equal to those of Jersey City. The first step taken in the matter of the introduction of water into Hoboken was in the Spring of 1857, when an act was passed by the Acrielature of New-Jersey appointing Edmund Charles, John Board, Charles Clinton, John Ireland, Edgar Broadhead and the Chairman of the Hoboken Council, Commissioners to supervise the introduction of the These gentlemen preceded with the work, and, after much delay, arising from the opposition of other parties, they succeeded in completing the work. They have succeeded in the enterprise at an expense only of $38,000. They have caused to be laid four miles of pipe, of which one mile is the supply pipe from the place where the Passaic pipe is tapped, to the main street. The remainder consists of 12 and 6-inch pipe, and has been extended as far as is necessary for the present uses of the inhabitants. The present Commissioners are Messre. Edmund Charles, Edgar Broadhead, John Ireland, William W. Shippen and Ja nes W. Wilson, Chairman of the Hoboken Council. There is a head of water of from 125 to 128 feet high, with a supply at the smallest tap of from 20 to 30 barrels daily. FRIDAY, Oct. 15-P. K. There was a slight hesitation in the upward movement of the Stock market to-day, and, generally speaking, a small concession in prices; but the aggregate amount of business was large, and there is still a strong spirit of activity at the Board. The result of a few weeks of animation and sustained advancing pace has been to attract outsiders to a larger extent, and the bull interest has found items of encouragement in the present and prospective abundance of the Money market, and the more cheerful tone of foreign matters pertaining to American scenrities. The hopeful view of the market, in a speculative point of view, is consequently still in the ascendant; but its basis is of much the same character as that which influenced the activty and advance of last Winter, market prices bearing ore relation to the state of money matters than to intrinsic values. The reaction of to-day was too trifling to be taken as an indication of a serious check in the speculation, but it is quite natural to anticipate an occasional interruption, even in a generally rising market. At the First Board, the largest operations were in Reading and Michigan Southern old and preferred shares. In the first named there was evidently considerable realization of profits, and the preponderance of sellers was sufficient to establish a cecline of 1 & cent from the closing prices of yester-day. Michigan Southern Stock of both classes was well sustained, and held at steady prices during the day. New-York Central opened at about the last quotations of yesterday, and was steady and strong through both sessions of the Board. Michigan Central came out more freely than of late, and closed rather dull at a concession of i. The demand for Illinois Central was quite spirited on the strength of foreign quotations received by the Africa, result was an advance of 1 P cent. Galena and Toledo were rather heavy, and both underwept a moderate decline. Rock Island shows no change worthy of especial notice. At the Second Board, the market was still lower for Reading, Michigan Central, Galena and Erie, but tolerably firm and steady for nearly every thing else. Bond transactions are growing in extent and importance, and there is evidently a larger amount of reinvestment in some of the best considered classes of State and railway issues. Prices are generally firm. The closing quotations were, for New-York Central 84.

The London Times of the 1st inst. says:

The English funds opened with increased buoyancy this morning, but there was subsequently a slight tendency to reaction. The first quotation of Consols for money was 98; $\alpha$; whence they receded to 98; several realizations having been effected, while a temporary demand for money was observable. At the close however there were again signs (firmness, and the final transactions were at 98; for money, and 98; $\alpha$; for the 12th of October. For the new settlement on the 10th November the last price was 98;. The Government broker did not make any purchases on public account. The London Economist of the 2d inst. remarks. Sound securities of all descriptions are eagerly absorbed by permanent investors, who, in face of the expected reduction of the bank rate of discount to 2; P cent foresee that the rate of allowance obtainable V cers foresee that the rate of allowance obtainable for loans and deposits from the great monied establishments will soon be limited to 11 e cent. It will be surprising if the state of the money market does not ere long lead to a decided revival of speculation in the Stock Exchange. Bankers are absolutely at a loss what to do with their surplus funds, and see even increased difficulty in prospect. They are consequently, in nonerous instances, eager lenders upon English and Indian railway shares, and even upon foreign stocks. When we hear of loans being readily obtained upon so uncertain a security as Mexican bonds, it is easy to percieve what is in store at no remote date.

road will largely enhance the value of real estate in the mote date.
"The symptoms of coming animation in the Stock "The symptoms of coming animation in the Stock Exchange, to the probability of which we have repeatedly called attention, have this week become much more marked. A great demand has been experienced for nearly all the leading securities, including consols, the Indian 4 per cent debentures, English, Indian Brazilian, and Gauadian railway shares, and colonial and foreign state bonds. A considerable number of the purchases have of course been on speculative account, but the propertion of a bona fide character is unusually large. Eastern District, and cause the erection of stores and

MANCHESTER TRADE REPORT, Oct. 2.—We are closing another week of general caution and backwardness to operate on the part of the buyers of yarus and goods, yet a remarkable steadiness of prices prevails in both departments. A fortuight's slackness at least has not made a practical difference against the sellers of yarus of more than [d. V] Ib in the great mass of the production, say from 50's mule and 30's water to the lowest numbers; indeed, it has done much more in abating extremes and merely nominal quotations than in modifying the previously attainable quotations than in modifying the previously attainable quotations than in modifying the previously attainable quotatations. Subdantially the same statement holds good in regard to cloth at large. Both spinners and manufacturers derive firmness from a general absence of stock, from a fair amount of exhausted orders in hand, from an encouraging prospect as to future demand, and, at the same time, from the absence of any apparent obscurementances to affect the value of cotton in the downward direction.

This dogged steadiness on the part of spinners and manufacturers, under so fair a test of quietness, appears to be bringing the boying classes to the conclusion that no permanent impression can be made upon prices by any degree of inaction which they are likely to maintain. They must become purchasers before long, and in no long time either; and the longer they stand out the more vigorously must they come in at last. Some such cognitions as this appears to be at work; indeed, it finds and shide expression; and it seems to be showing itself also in an increase of inquiry during the hast day or two for various yarms and goods.

The everland letters are not yet come to hand, but private.

increase of impairs during the last day or two for various yarms and goods.

The overland letters are not yet come to hand, but private telegraphs were received on Tuesday evening by different firms, which were sufficiently favorable as regards the markets of Bombay, Calcutta and Shangani, to induce operations, muce that day, of considerable aggregate amount in Shirtings, jaconets, and other goods, and shir in mule and water twist. These purchases, bave, we believe, been made, not by the Eastern merchanty generally, but by a few of them, and for certain specific articles bearing well known marks.

The Bolton spinners are decidedly firm in their prices. Doubled yarms are atife, some numbers hardening in price, but 40's are stagmant. At length a very slight actual improvement appears to be showing itself in the better qualities of the fine single and double yarms.

At the Lespies fair, the products of Germany are reported not to have gone off satisfacturily. Yarms are bought in the latter days of the fair. There is, therefore, as yet, no report of them, but the support is little discouraging. However, the general state of things in Germany is good.

Since our last, there has been a steadily improving market for American Securities. In State Stecks, the chief inquiry has been for Pennsylvania, Maryland and Massachusetts. For Railrord Bonds there has been a good demand, especially for those best known and usually quoted. We note several transactions in Detroit and Milwankee First Mortgage Bonds, at $4000, since the opening of the road throughout, and the satisfactory cheracter of the traffic returns.
